

Alexis Morrison-Howe is a Principal in Deloitte's Washington National Tax Practice where she leads the Multistate WNT practice. She has over 17 years of experience in multistate corporate taxation, serving clients in the life sciences, technology, and consumer business industries. Her practice has focused on restructurings, cross-border transactions, mergers and acquisitions, and controversy. Alexis began her career at Deloitte working in multistate tax in the Boston office and in international tax in the London office. She served as Tax Counsel to the Massachusetts Appellate Tax Board before rejoining Deloitte, where she serves as the firm's technical leader on state issues related to transactions and tax reform as well as co-Jurisdictional Technical Lead for Massachusetts.