

Bio

Jennifer Jensen
Indirect Tax Partner – Washington, DC

(240) 599-6537
jennifer.jensen@pwc.com

Jennifer runs PwC's East and New York metro regions' indirect tax practices. She has been specializing in the sales and use taxes for over 25 years. She assists clients through various multi-state tax studies, reverse sales tax audits, due diligence, indirect tax compliance, process automation and improvement and general indirect tax consulting projects. Prior to joining the East region practice, Jennifer was located in our Washington National Tax Services group in Washington, DC as an indirect tax subject matter expert providing services for clients nationwide and serving as a national resource for our network of indirect tax professionals.

Jennifer is a frequent speaker at external and internal conferences and has published several articles in the AICPA Tax Advisor. She also represented the firm on the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants state and local tax resource panel. Jennifer is a graduate of Brigham Young University with Bachelor and Master of Science degrees in accounting with a tax emphasis. She is currently a licensed CPA in the District of Columbia, Idaho, Maryland, and Virginia.